

Physically Distinct

Photos from 1912 show a discrete shore on the lake.

Bolles Hotel on the shore of Lake Okeechobee, taken April 14, 1912

Hotel - Lake Okeechobee in distance #112

Looking from cupola of Bolles Hotel to the shore of the lake, taken
April 14, 1912

-Hotel Gardens-
Lake Okechobee

-141-

Looking from cupola down the Ritta
River, which flowed from the Lake south into the Everglades

Ruins of the old Ritta River locks

Hoover Dike and
S-3 Pump Station

Hydrologically Distinct:

Boats navigating south from Lake Okeechobee had to be lowered 3-4 feet in this lock because the water in Lake Okeechobee was much higher than the water in the Everglades